

AMBITION SHALLOT

A reddish brown shallot for the long and semi long day areas. The yield is very high and the bulb shape is globe to elongated-globe. Because of the high level of uniformity it develops a beautiful grading of the final product. Due to good skin and storage quality Ambition F1 is suitable for very long storage. Suitable for spring sowing.

Varieties perform differently under different climatic conditions, and are usually only suitable for specific markets. For more elaborate information about this variety in a specific market, visit the assortments on our country websites, via www.bejo.com/countries. Our local crop specialists are happy to give additional tailor-made advice.